Four Services in One

If you understand the concept that musical theatre brings together a variety of artforms, then Martin O'Toole from ResCom is doing for real estate what musical theatre does for singing, dancing and acting.

If you have ever purchased or sold a property, you may have experienced the frustration of meeting with numerous agents, negotiating the sale of purchase, not to mention all the meetings with solicitors, conveyancers, insurers and banks.

When you talk to Martin about real estate services he states that it is his "passionate belief that the future of the property transaction process will be the 'one stop shop', with real estate, finance, conveyancing and insurance all under the one roof."

Martin O'Toole is one of Tasmania's most experienced real estate practitioners having over 25 years experience in the industry. His credentials include:

- Associate Diploma in Real Estate awarded by the Real Estate Institute of Australia.
- Tutor with the Real estate Institute of Australia
- Fully accredited real estate agent, auctioneer and Certificate IV Workplace Assessor

So whether you are buying, selling, renting or looking to maximise the recent boost to the First Homebuyers grant, why not simplify the process and take a few moments to talk to Martin & his team.

Encore Theatre Company is delighted with Martin's support of the arts in Launceston as a naming-rights partner of their 2008-09 productions.

So, it WAS a big night... Or 2 ... at The Metz!

Now, while the IMAGE of The Sound of Music might be as pure as raindrops & roses, the SOM team had other ideas on what their image should be when in party-mode! It was sacramental wine all-round....

It turns out that doing a musical is VERY thirsty work, and the cast, crew, orchestra & friends enjoyed the following on opening & closing night at The Metz.

- 54 bottles of wine (reds, whites, bubbly)
- 98 x 10oz beers
- 16 jugs of soft drink (go the kids!)
- 2 scotches
- 2 bottles Jansz (Go Wendy & BJ!)
- Plus, some $500 of finger food.

A very big thankyou to Olivia, Ang & The Metz team for taking care of Encore in such fine style.
